

Because sign language interpreting is fast enough to keep up with the average speaking rate, the strength of video relay is that it is fast. A reimbursement or recovery rate based on a per-minute compensation amount distributed from NECA to providers is penalizing video relay for its strength. It may be suitable for video relay to be compensated with a lump sum, or partially for the connected minutes and partially with a lump sum.